

Business news in brief

Mar. 22, 2015 @ 12:01 AM

Louisa-based franchise honored with 'Rookie of the Year' award

Business Optimization Specialists Lee and Marla Balaklaw were recently named "Rookie of the Year" by the Schooley Mitchell head office.

The award was presented to Schooley Mitchell of Louisa, Kentucky, in honor of outstanding financial and operations performance for a first-year franchise.

The Balaklaws client base includes businesses in Kentucky, West Virginia, Ohio, Montana, Texas, Arizona and New York.

Schooley Mitchell consults businesses on a broad range of services including analysis of existing and future telecom and credit card processing services needs, assessment of best alternatives and implementation of cost-effective solutions.

For additional information about Schooley Mitchell's services, visit www.schooleymitchell.com/lmbalaklaw.

Comments

The Herald-Dispatch welcomes your comments on this article, but please be civil. Avoid profanity, obscenity, personal attacks, accusations of criminal activity, name-calling or insults to the other posters. Herald-dispatch.com does not control or monitor comments as they are posted, but if you find a comment offensive or uncivil, hover your mouse over the comment and click the X that appears in the upper right of the comment. If you do not want your comment to post to your personal Facebook page, uncheck the box below the comment.